

Financial Profile Service

Confidently identifying the assets and liabilities within an estate is an increasingly challenging and complicated task, with the Escheatment process revealing significant assets lying unclaimed following the death of the account holder. Searching paper statements is time-consuming and becoming more unreliable as financial services provision moves online.

Battle tested technology you can trust

Delivering critical information with confidence

Our robust approach supports administrators and trustees in building a financial profile of estate assets and liabilities.

Established expertise

Working with over 10,000 professionals across a network of more than 2,000 legal firms, our technology supports best practice and protects your firm from risk.

The Financial Profile Service includes

Asset Search

Active notification and search of over 150 financial organizations including banks, mutuals, investment managers, pension providers and insurers to help identify live, online, lost and dormant accounts.

Fraud Prevention

Fraud is a growing concern for legal professionals. Using our own intelligence and working with data partners, we are building a register of deceased subjects which will be available to credit providers to search before making lending decisions, helping to protect vulnerable customers from the risk of estate fraud.
