goodlawyer

Web Developer - Career Opportunity

Role

We are looking for an amazing Web Developer to assist in the development of Canada's leading legal services marketplace. The successful applicant will work closely with our Growth and Product teams in Calgary. The successful candidate will be part of a multi-disciplinary team and the sole web developer working on our front-end sales-oriented website.

Interested candidates should apply as soon as possible using the form found at www.goodlawyer.ca/careers. Applications will be evaluated as they are submitted and interviews will be scheduled to follow. The posting will be closed when a candidate is selected.

Responsibilities

- Work with our Growth and Product teams to create a user-friendly and growth-oriented website.
- Write reusable code and components that can be used with a Headless CMS system
- Create content models inside a headless CMS that can resolve to full webpages
- Create mobile and SEO friendly webpages

Skills and Qualifications

- Minimum 2+ years experience working with modern web frameworks and technologies including React, Vue, Angular, etc.
- Minimum 2+ years experience working with CSS/SASS/LESS and other frontend styling techniques such as CSS-in-JS
- Experience working with and creating the technical requirements and strategy for strong SEO
- A strong ability to communicate technical concepts to non-technical team members
- Experience working with various A/B testing methodologies and technologies
- Experience creating server-side rendered webpages using NextJS is valued but not required

Compensation

Compensation is negotiable. The Web Developer is expected to work 30-40 hours per week.

Reporting and office arrangements

The Web Developer will report directly to our Chief Technology Officer. They will be expected to regularly meet with their teammates at our downtown Calgary office. Goodlawyer has a hybrid work environment, where most of our team members work from the office 3 or 4 days a week.

Other Requirements

- Must be eligible to work in Canada

About Goodlawyer

Goodlawyer is a legal technology company on a mission to make lawyers more accessible to entrepreneurs. We've built a user-friendly platform that connects Canadian small businesses to lawyers with the expertise they need at prices that are consistently half the national average. Goodlawyer makes legal services convenient and affordable for clients, and offers a source of new leads and revenue for lawyers.