

Get the software engineering talent you need. Fast.

Torc is the only talent marketplace for companies and developers that puts productivity, security, and culture first. We take the pain out of finding highly productive freelance developers so you can build your development team with confidence.

This is the future of software development.

Contact us at hello@opentorc.com to start building your engineering team today.

Our focus

Productivity

We're pioneering the use of data to understand, measure, and incentivize what really matters for your business—developer productivity.

Security

Torc is designed for enterprise customers. Security, confidentiality, and professionalism are in the DNA of Torc and our Community.

Culture

Torc is a Community of talent. Our personalized approach means faster matches with higher-skilled developers.

Your team

Freelance developers on-demand when you need them

- Global community of vetted remote software developers
- Experience with full-stack, cloud-based technologies
- Short, medium, or long-term engagements
- Fixed weekly rates with option to hire
- Competitive global rates