

Understanding PSC Codes

Product service codes (PSC) Also referred to as federal supply codes, used by the United States government to describe the products, services, research and development purchased by the government.

The code is a 4-position code, with products having a digit in the first position and services and R&D having a character in the first position.

There are 10's of thousands of codes in total which can seem very daunting - However, did you know that the 1st digits into the PSC area on the Contacts search will help you find what you are looking for right away.
