This beautiful valley is a thriving melting pot of ancient tradition, culture, history and natural wonders. Visitors are greeted by warm hospitality of people of Haa with assurance of plethora of authentic holiday experiences. Join us to unfurl the hidden gems of this heavenly like place.

Welcome To Haa

Introduction

Nestled in Bhutan's western frontier, Haa district is a sacred haven steeped in the blessings of ancient saints, enveloped by majestic hills and mountains that stand as silent sentinels over its verdant valleys. Balancing high-altitude terrains with rich cultural traditions, Haa's economy thrives on both tourism and traditional agriculture.

Visitors to Haa are greeted with a warm embrace, offered an immersive holiday experience brimming with authenticity and vivacity. The district's meticulous attention to detail and unwavering dedication to service ensures each guest feels at home, fostering unforgettable memories.

Haa's cultural tapestry is vividly displayed through its vibrant festivals, traditional dances, and delectable cuisine, providing a holistic immersion into Bhutanese heritage. The Spring Haa Summer Festival, a highlight, offers a glimpse into the district's nomadic past, preserving customs passed down through generations.

For adventure seekers, Haa presents a playground of possibilities, with trekking routes meandering through pristine forests, alpine meadows, and remote villages. The iconic Nub Tshona Pata Trek promises awe-inspiring views of the Himalayas and unparalleled adventure.

Embracing ecotourism principles, Haa prioritizes environmental conservation, offering activities like birdwatching, nature hikes, and sustainable agricultural tours. Through community-based initiatives, locals actively engage in hospitality services, enriching the tourist experience while fostering equitable economic growth.

Map of Haa

Seasonality

Summer

Summer in Haa Valley offers a tranquil getaway. The season is characterized by warmth, humid and occasional rains. The true magic lies in the spectacular bloom of White Poppies, blanketing the meadows in thousands, transforming the landscape into a breathtaking canvas

Winter

Winter in Haa is frigid, with temperatures dropping to -10°C . Yet, clear, sunny days invite hikers to explore its crisp, snowy landscapes. The stunning Chele La Pass offers breathtaking views of snow-covered mountains and valleys, making winter visits perfect for nature enthusiasts.

Spring

Spring in Haa heralds warm weather and nature's transformation into lush greenery. Wildflowers burst into full bloom, creating a multicolored paradise. It's truly the best time to visit, offering the chance to explore Haa's enchanting magic and immerse oneself in nature's vivid splendor, a true celebration of life and beauty.

Autumn

Autumn in Bhutan's Haa Valley is perfect for high-altitude trekking and cultural exploration. Clear skies and mild weather enhance the experience. The vibrant Haa Festival, a highlight of the season, brings communities together in joyous celebration, showcasing the rich heritage and stunning beauty of this enchanting valley.

Places to Visit

Destination Haa boasts a treasure trove of unforgettable holiday activities, captivating visitors with extraordinary travel experiences. Revered as the cultural and spiritual heartland of Bhutan, Haa is home to an array of ancient temples and monasteries, some of which have stood for centuries. Among these, the illustrious Lhakhang Karpo and Lhakhang Nagpo, erected by Tibetan King Songtsen Gampo in the 7th century, hold a special place in the hearts of Bhutanese people nationwide. These temples, which existed long before the arrival of Guru Rinpoche, are pillars of Buddhist tradition.

Visitors are invited to explore these sacred sanctuaries, immersing themselves in the profound beauty and depth of Buddhist culture. Delving into philosophical exchanges with elderly monks offers a truly enlightening experience, shedding light on the rich spiritual heritage of the region. The serene ambiance and cultural richness of Haa ensure that every visitor leaves with a sense of wonder and a deeper appreciation for this enchanting destination.

Lhakhang Karpo

This 7th century temple epitomizes the nation's spiritual and cultural essence. Adorned with intricate carvings and vibrant prayer flags, it serves as a sanctuary for devotion and reflection. Enshrining sacred relics and hosting religious ceremonies, it symbolizes Bhutan's commitment to heritage preservation and environmental harmony.

Lhakhang Nagpo

Built in the same time as Lhakhang Karpo in the 7th century, this temple embodies spiritual tranquility amidst majestic landscapes. With its sacred aura and intricate architecture, it invites reverence and introspection. Hosting religious ceremonies and preserving cultural heritage, it symbolizes Bhutan's profound connection to tradition and nature, enriching the soul with its timeless wisdom.

Katsho Goenpa

Constructed in the 19th century by its visionary founder, Lam Choney Dorji, this temple stands as a testament to his enduring legacy, bestowing profound blessings upon the Katsho community. Presently, it serves as a revered center for Buddhist education within the village of Katsho.

Takchu Goenpa

This 14th century monastery is located on the Riwoo of Chenrizeg found inside the Rigsum Goenpa of Haa Me Ri Puensum in Eusu Geog. The temple houses the statue of son of God of wealth and unveils amazing ancient history and folklore.

Haa Dzong | Wangchuk Lo Dzong

Haa Wangchuk Lo Dzong was built as an administrative center. It is one of the new Dzong in the country constructed in 1915 following old Damcho Dzong was burned down. This Dzong is different than other Dzongs which are usually build on hill-side or ridge top to serve as defense against foreign invasion.

Juneydra

Juneydra is a holy hermitage spot first visited by Guru Rinpoche who helped subdued demons. Add on, formation of several sacred shapes of Mahakali, gold and silver bowls and the syllable 'Ah' can be seen on the rocks. Importantly, the right footprint of Mache Labdron, a female Tibetan Tantric practitioner is enshrined in this holy Hermitage.

Rangtse Ney

Located at the edge of Chego village under, Rangtse Ney is a sacred place of Guru Rinpoche. The surreal rocky cave houses holy meditation sites of Guru Rinpoche and Khando Yeshey Tshogyal. Vajra of Guru, Yoni of Dakini, Lotus flower, religious articles and several instruments are found inside the cave. There are also images of Guru Dorji Dolo and Sangay Tongku.

Yangthang Goenpa

According to Lodruk Chojung history written by the late 69th Je Khenpo of Bhutan, Yangthang Zabden Choling Goenpa was instituted by Lama Thine-ly Gatsho, core disciple of Lama Choing Gyatsho. This two-story temple houses a shrine of Avalokiteshvara in the first story and Shrines of Dharmakaya, Sambhogakaya and Nimanakaya along with shrine of Lama in the second story.

Haa Trout Farm

The National Research Centre for Riverine and Lake Fisheries of Haa initiated rearing of trout in 2015 as a remedy to substitute fish import from India. With three active trout plants, Haa is the main distributor of trout fish to Paro, Thimphu and Punakha. The place is open for visitor for educational purpose and to explore personal interest.

Meri Puensum | Rigsum Goenpa

These three identical mountains symbolize three Bodhistva, Avalokiteshvara (Chenresing) the Buddha of compassion, Manjushri (Jampelyang) the Buddha of wisdom and knowledge and Vajrapani (Chana Dorji) the Buddha of power and victory. As orated by the 69th Jekhenpo, Lhakhang Karpo and Nagpo was built by people believed to have emerged from Rigsum.

Four Major Goenpas

The historic sites of Yangthang, Katsho, Takchu, and Dranadingkha Goenpas are located on the top of mountains each facing in different directions. They are considered as four major Goenpas in Haa. Visitors can enjoy scenic view of hilly Rigsum mountain while on Panorama Hiking Trail. The trail also offer visitors to engage in outdoor photography of surrounding nature and surreal landscape.

Chele La

Venture through the winding roads from Paro to Haa, where the ethereal Chele la stands tall at 3,988m, claiming its title as Bhutan's loftiest motorable pass. Ascend by car to behold the awe-inspiring panorama, where the majestic Jomolhari (7,326m) and her brethren mountains reveal their splendor on clear days.

Druk Neykor - Bhutan Pilgrimage

The Druk Neykor or Bhutan Pilgrimage is a packaged nationwide pilgrimage tourism product. Druk Neykor is a unique tourism product that aspires to promote the pilgrims, enhance the visitor experience, contribute to the spreading of tourism across the country and promote cultural conservation for sustainable tourism. Four sites are designated as Druk Neykor sites in Haa.

Three reasons for choosing homestay

1 Cultural Immersion and Exchange

Immerse yourself in Bhutanese culture and rural life through the enriching experience of a homestay. Delve into traditional architecture, customs, and savory Bhutanese cuisine. Share your own culture with your host family, fostering a delightful exchange of traditions and heartfelt interactions that transcend borders.

2 Personalised Experiences

Homestays offer a tapestry of experiences tailored to seasons and preferences: from invigorating hikes to hands-on farming and immersion in daily household rituals. Dive into vibrant local festivals, forging bonds not just with your host family but also with the vibrant tapestry of the surrounding community, creating memories woven with the threads of Bhutanese life.

3 Sustainable and Responsible Tourism

Sustainable tourism strives to preserve environmental integrity, protect cultural heritage, and benefit local communities. It promotes responsible travel practices, such as minimizing carbon footprints, supporting local economies, and respecting indigenous cultures.

Things to do in Homestay

Farming Experience

Plunge your hands into the earth, plucking ripe vegetables from the family's lush garden, then tend to the gentle beasts, milking cows and mastering the alchemy of cheese-making. Sample the fruits of your labor during shared meals, savoring the flavors of the land. Step away from the frenetic pace of sight-seeing and immerse yourself in the tranquility of authentic Bhutanese rural life.

Cooking Bhutanese Food

Embark on a culinary journey with your host family, mastering the art of Bhutanese cuisine like Ema Datshi or the exquisite Hoentey dumplings, a hallmark of Haa's culinary heritage. As a gesture of cultural exchange, share the flavors of your homeland with your hosts. Engage in lively conversation as you chop, stir, and sizzle together, forging bonds that transcend language barriers over the flicker of the stove.

Dotsho (Hot Stone Bath)

Unwind Bhutanese-style with Dotso, a revered form of relaxation, ideal for soothing weary muscles after days of vibrant exploration. Immerse yourself in a traditional wooden tub, warmed by river stones, their gentle heat melting away tension. Should the water cool, a simple request summons more fiery stones, ensuring your bath remains a sanctuary of warmth and rejuvenation.

Relaxation Time With Local whisky

Indulge in the cherished tradition of Ara, Bhutan's beloved homemade elixir, whether sipped neat or savored in delightful concoctions with egg and butter. Families may also offer Sin Chang or Bang Chang, each a testament to local ingenuity. Let the flavors of Bhutanese spirits transport you, embracing the essence of relaxation in the comforting embrace of a homestay retreat.

Traditional Games

Immerse yourself in Bhutanese culture by mastering traditional sports like archery, the nation's pride, Khuru, Soksom, Pundo, and Digor. Learn directly from the family, then join in spirited matches, bonding over shared laughter and friendly competition, creating memories infused with the joy of cultural exchange.

Festival Events

Haa Spring Festival

The Haa Spring Festival epitomizes the vibrant tradition and culture of the nomadic tribes. This joyous occasion features shamanistic rituals, indigenous dances, and folk songs, alongside traditional sports like horse and yak riding. Visitors indulge in a sensory feast of flower exhibitions, agricultural showcases, and local cuisine, fostering memorable experiences.

Ap Chundu Soelkha

The annual ritual of appeasing the local guardian of Haa Valley, Ap Chhundu, is a revered and ancient tradition with roots tracing back to the 15th century. The people of Haa pay homage to this formidable deity to invoke protection, foster harmony, and dispel misfortune. Ap Chhundu's legendary intervention during the 17th-century Tibetan invasions is etched in the valley's history, cementing his significance as a guardian and protector.

26 | Destination Haa

Yangthang Bangko

Yangthang Bangko commemorates triumph and pays homage to warriors who defended against Tibetan invasion. Yangthang's courageous men formed the backbone of Haa Valley's defense. The event also features the head astrologer outlining intricate spiritual practices for the community's welfare.

Haa Festival

The esteemed Haa Festival, an annual September event at the historic Lhakhang Karpo courtyard, draws individuals from all walks of life seeking blessings for health, prosperity, and well-being. Over three days, the Haa IMPART community presents diverse cultural and military performances, celebrating the enduring friendship between India and Bhutan. The renowned Haa Mela/Funfair further captivates visitors from Paro and Thimphu. Save the dates: September 11 to 13 for the 2024 Haa Festival.

Lomba - Regional New Year

In the Haa and Paro regions, the locally significant Lomba festival marks the culmination of the harvest season.

This ancient cultural event, the grandest celebration in Haa, signifies the conclusion of a prosperous year and the advent of the new year, fostering familial and communal bonds.

In Haa, festivities heighten with the preparation of the iconic dish Hoentey, a regional dumpling crafted from buckwheat dough filled with dried turnip leaves and local spices.

Children partake in the tradition of visiting homes, chanting "Lo Lay Lo Lay," and receiving freshly prepared Hoentey as a token of goodwill.

Lomba, observed on the 29th day of the 9th lunar month annually, encapsulates the region's rich cultural heritage and spirit of communal harmony.

Local Delicacy

Hoentoe

Discover the culinary gem of Haa Valley: Hoentey, a rare delicacy reserved for annual New Year festivities. Resembling dumplings, these treasures are crafted from buckwheat dough, filled with a symphony of dried turnip leaves, cheese, and indigenous spices, offering a tantalizing taste of tradition and celebration.

Kapche Japa

In the gastronomic tradition of western Bhutan, Kapche Japa holds a special place in the hearts of Haa's inhabitants. Crafted from hand-kneaded wheat dough, this hearty dish brims with protein and carbohydrates. Enjoyed at breakfast, it harmonizes perfectly with freshly brewed butter tea and creamy cottage butter, a cherished morning indulgence.

Phillu

Phillu, a culinary treasure of highlanders like those in Haa, embodies the essence of mountain cuisine. Crafted from fresh yak cheese and butter, it's elevated by local spices and natural herbs sourced from birch trees, creating a symphony of flavors as rich and vibrant as the rugged landscapes they hail from.

Chugo Mago

Chugo Mago dances on taste buds, born from hardened yak cheese, baptized in butter's golden embrace, then sweetened with a sprinkle of sugar, elevating flavors to celestial heights. A delicacy reserved for momentous occasions, honoring esteemed guests with gastronomic splendor.

Haa Nya

Haa pioneers rainbow trout farming in Bhutan, its pristine waters fostering delectable dishes. From hotels to local eateries, savor the succulent flavors of trout, a culinary delight not to be missed during your Haa sojourn.
