Dear Hiring Manager,

I am excited to express my genuine interest in the part-time pharmaceutical research internship at MedLife, as advertised. As a third-year student in Pharmaceutical Sciences from the University of Edinburgh, I am eager to apply my knowledge and enthusiasm for advancing healthcare solutions to contribute to your esteemed research team.

I undertook comprehensive coursework throughout my academic journey, building a solid foundation in pharmaceutical research methodologies and industry practices. Although my formal research experience may be limited, my dedication to learning, adaptability, and practical communication skills make me a well-rounded candidate for this role. I am particularly attracted to MedLife for its commitment to cutting-edge research, and I am eager to be part of a team committed to making impactful contributions to the field.

I am confident that my academic accomplishments and my passion for advancing healthcare make me an asset to the pharmaceutical research position.

I would welcome the opportunity to discuss in greater detail how my skills and enthusiasm align with the specific needs of your research team. Thank you for considering my application.

Sincerely,
John Anderson
