

Quality Policy Statement

Alsico Laucuba Ltd is one of Europe's leading workwear manufacturers and suppliers in Europe, we exist to make life better for people at work, without jeopardising future generations.

With near to 100 years of experience behind us, it is our vision to be the most respected and recognised workwear company in the world. Never compromising on what matters and continually pushing the boundaries of innovation. Enabling our belief that every worker has the right to feel good, look good and be safe.

The Directors of the company are accountable for its success. They are committed to operating a business that provides the highest possible level of service to all our customers. To reinforce this commitment we operate a management system which meets the requirements of ISO 9001:2015 for the following scope:

Due to our scale and global reach, we design and supply garments into key workwear environments, covering roles across multiple sectors including: Utilities, Transport & Defense, Manufacturing, Construction, Public Sector, Facilities Management, Infrastructure and Maintenance. Supplying a broad range of products specializing in environments such as wearer protection, healthcare, contamination control, emergency response, electrification and general workwear.

The Directors have developed this policy statement which is appropriate to the purpose and context of the organisation and supports its strategic direction. They are committed to continual improvement and growth.

This is achieved by:

- Addressing the needs and expectations of our customers
- Determining the risks and opportunities that can affect our business
- Introducing business objectives to ensure that processes are performing efficiently and are continually improving
- Ensuring that the resources are available to achieve the objectives

- Working closely with suppliers to ensure product quality and supply are ethically, sustainably and environmentally maintained

Our leadership and senior managers will ensure our quality policy is both implemented and maintained and supports the strategic direction and context of the organisation through a framework of objectives.

The company believes in the concept of customer and supplier partnerships, working together in pursuing this policy and striving for improvements in performance.

Regular reviews of the policy statement, business objectives and the management system take place at planned intervals in order to maintain progress and plan opportunities for improvement.

This Policy Statement involves all employees and it has been communicated and understood throughout the organization.
