Bergin & Bath

Katie Bergin and Rachel Bath are two creative friends who started working together back in 2013, producing editorial for women's lifestyle and craft magazines. For several years, they dreamed of creating their own craft brand - one that would make a difference. Using beautiful, sustainable products that provided not only a mindful challenge but also a high-quality finished result.

In 2019 Rachel and Katie created their first range of planet-friendly craft kits for adults. They now have a large catalogue of products including felt flower and embroidery boxes, paper flower-making kits, beading and jewellery-making kits, beginners' macramé kits and a variety of enchanting needle-felted animal kits.

Bergin and Bath champion all-natural, biodegradable materials and are working towards zero waste. In their hometown of Berkhamsted they also run regular craft workshops.

Emma Reeve

Emma has been a visual merchandiser for Top Shop and for the last decade she has been a senior member of the Glastonbury Art Decoration team, designing their signs and banners. Her love for glass and mosaics started when she picked up a home magazine at work one day, and read a bathroom makeover feature showing a beautiful mirror made by a well-known mosaic artist. This was the beginning of her twelve-year journey into mosaics, which has been her hobby and passion ever since.

Emma makes beautiful, bespoke gift commissions, and her success means she is now able to start her own business. She has also begun teaching mosaics, and is thrilled to be running her popular workshops for Supercraft Cruises.

Gill Bouscarle

Gill's creative journey began in childhood and grew through a career in fashion, pattern cutting and three decades as an interior designer, running a high-end soft furnishings business. Working with respected names such as Colefax and Fowler shaped her love of fine detail, craftsmanship and beautifully made things.

Gill now pours that experience into bespoke craft work and teaching. From embroidery and knitting to sewing and painting, she believes making by hand is both grounding and empowering - and she loves passing her skills on to others.
