PRESS RELEASE

Powering the Future of Enterprise IT – CPT Global and Beta Systems Announce Global Strategic Alliance

Berlin, May 13, 2025 – Responding to the surge in data center growth and operational complexity, two leading IT providers are combining strengths to drive modernization at scale. Beta Systems - a European software innovator in automation, observability, and output management - and CPT Global, a consulting and IT services specialist in enterprise data center operations, have formed a strategic alliance with a truly global scope.

Built on decades of shared experience across mainframe, open systems, and cloud environments, the collaboration is designed to deliver tangible value to enterprise clients. This alliance empowers clients to unlock the full potential of their mainframe investments - ensuring this cyber-resilient platform continues to deliver unmatched performance - while seamlessly integrating them into agile, multi-cloud ecosystems. Whether streamlining workloads or enhancing operational visibility, this collaboration delivers greater performance, resilience, and transformation readiness.

With complementary regional strengths – Beta Systems in Europe and CPT Global in North America and Australia – the alliance ensures comprehensive delivery and integration expertise on a global scale. This partnership also supports Beta Systems' international expansion by establishing a broader presence in key growth markets.

"This is a powerful strategic fit," said Mirko Minnich, CTO at Beta Systems Software AG. "Our joint capabilities enable us to support enterprise customers from consulting through to product delivery and implementation. Together, we offer a seamless, global service model."

Luke Tuddenham, CEO of CPT Global, comments "Combining the innovation of Beta Systems with the expertise of CPT Global enables us to deliver more results-driven solutions that help clients address their most pressing challenges while positioning them for ongoing success. We're very excited to begin leveraging this partnership to bring even more value to clients and help them achieve their strategic vision."

End.
