

Roberta McDonald

Roberta McDonald is the Head of Programme at Agreena where she ensures the robustness and integrity of Agreena's soil carbon programme, AgreenaCarbon.

With her extensive expertise and experience of the regenerative transition of farming she oversees that the generated value for the transition to regenerative practices result from the appropriate soil carbon methodology to ensure the climate contributions are genuine and verifiable.