It would be great if presenters could provide answers to questions that have been asked at webinars when time doesn't permit - either written or a video follow up. Sometimes there isnt time in the session so maybe a post session follow up would be good.

access

Might be good to see topics with multiple perspectives (e.g. how different agencies implement tripartism)

Events could better support attendees to share learnings back to their workplaces and follow up on if any changes have been made as a result, as applying insights is often the hardest but most valuable step in learning from other regulators.

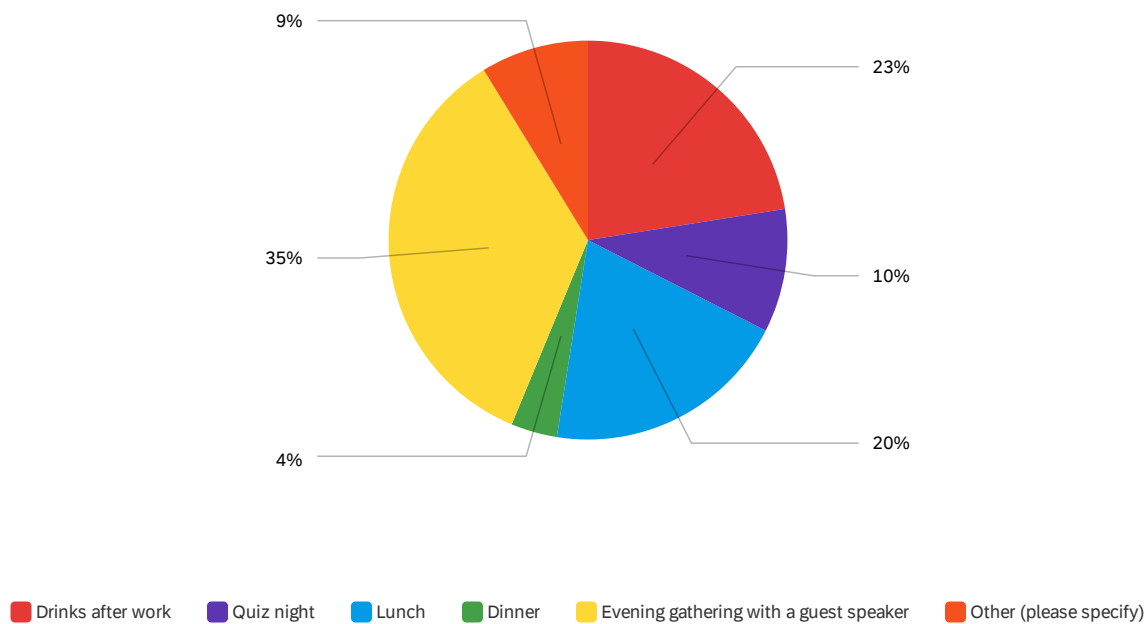

I very much appreciate including an academic perspective, however sometimes topics stray towards being too academic and not applicable to regulator experiences.

From my experience, all relevant speed dating for regulators

morning tea

I am not in Canberra - could we have online networking opportunities instead? Thank you.

Morning format works as well

Not for me, but enjoy :)
