

Patrick Stäuble

Founder & CEO

Patrick Stäuble is the Founder and CEO of Teylor, the leading SME lending fintech in Europe, headquartered in Zurich, Switzerland. Teylor has digitized the SME lending lifecycle and serves thousands of SMEs across Europe with a full range of innovative financing solutions. Teylor acquired the SME lending platform creditshelf in 2024, the factoring business of grenke AG, and the LendTech startup CapeTec in 2025.

Before founding Teylor, Patrick had various roles in the fintech and financial services industry, including working in Product Management, Business Development, and Consulting. He also served as a military observer for the Swiss military abroad and was selected as one of the Forbes 30 under 30 twice. Teylor is Patrick's second startup; the first was successfully sold in 2014.

Patrick holds a degree in Economics from the University of Zurich. He is based in Zurich and speaks German, English, and Italian.
