Artemyn starts a new story with a long-standing expertise in minerals

We are delighted to announce the creation of Artemyn.

Although Artemyn is a new global company, it benefits from decades of expertise in the processing and application of minerals to help its customers develop innovative and sustainable solutions.

With approximately 1000 employees, in 23 industrial facilities, 2 R&D centers and a large logistic global network, Artemyn has a strong presence in Americas, Europe and Asia, and is a leader in mineral solutions to the Paper & Board industry, supplying kaolin, ground calcium carbonate ("GCC"), precipitated calcium carbonate ("PCC"), and talc.

The company also has some expertise in other markets, such as Ceramics, Barrier coating for Paper and Packaging, and more.

In total, these activities represented about $400 million in sales in 2023.

Artemyn's assets used to be part of Imerys Group, which announced in March 2024 that it had entered into exclusive negotiations with Flacks Group, with a view to selling its assets serving the paper market.

This now creates a major player in the industry and as a stand alone company outside of the Imerys perimeter, Artemyn will be able to develop itself rapidly by investing in its own development as well as in new opportunities.

Flacks Group (www.flacksgroup.com) is now the new owner of Artemyn.

Flacks Group has in the past successfully acquired and operated various companies across different sectors, and is sharing with Artemyn's management and a dedicated world class Advisory Board the ambition to rapidly and successfully develop its various businesses for the benefit of its partners and customers.

In order to accelerate its own development, Flacks Group will take advantage of Artemyn's headquarters being in Paris to open their own office in France.

“Besides being a proud leader in the Paper and Board market, Artemyn’s ambition is to grow with our customers’ needs. It means that our teams and laboratories are structured to develop new solutions for our existing customers but also for new markets,” says Cyril Giraud, Artemyn’s CEO.
