HULT'S SPOTLIGHT

JANUARY 2026 EDITION

LONDON

STUDENT ACCOMMODATION

Student Opinion

Testimonials:

“I am 22 and lived for a year at Chapter Aldgate; it was quite an experience for me. This year I met international people, made meaningful friendships, and learned to become independent. I had opportunities and experiences I never had before living in London. A strong sense of community made everything that happened that much more special and enriching.”

CHAPTER ALDGATE

YUGO THE CURVE

Student Opinion

Testimonials:

“I lived at Yugo The Curve in my first year at Hult and also became a student ambassador. I organized events and built a great friend group beyond university. It’s just five minutes from campus, with warm, funny staff, 24/7 security, and a Tesco in the same building.”

INTERNSHIPS SPOTLIGHT

RAPHAEL VASSEL

Strategy Consultant Intern

Having worked at Nepsio Conseil, based in Nantes, France for a month now, I have the opportunity to help on different missions such as:

- Analysing competitors and creating an entire strategy for a company that wants to settle in Italy.
- Creating tools for crisis management.
- Analysing data and presenting solutions to the client.

I look forward working here for the next 7 months before returning to Hult for my masters.

VICTOR ADAM OSIPOWSKI

Account Management Intern

I'll be doing a 10-week sales internship at Gartner in London, focusing on the Nordic market. I'll learn how their sales team supports existing clients, strengthens long-term relationships, and drives growth through retention and new business opportunities. I'll receive hands-on training, shadow experienced sales associates, and actively participate in sales processes, helping me develop stronger communication, commercial awareness, and professional skills.

BUSINESS CHALLENGES

Business Challenge

In this challenge, student teams worked on a business challenge for Intuit QuickBooks, focusing on improving user trust in AI agents within the platform. The brief had two primary objectives:

1. Identify why accountants and small business owners were hesitant to trust AI-supported workflows
2. Propose product and communication improvements to increase confidence and adoption. Across the class, teams worked on Intuit QuickBooks challenges around AI trust and early churn.

INTUIT

STUDENT-LED DEAF HISTORY PROJECTS

Spotlight on BSL

Last term, students were able to enroll into a British Sign Language (BSL) course, compelling a research-led project that let them explore a topic of their choice within Deaf and History and Culture.

They translated their research and learning into a BSL presentation that focused on accurate signing and clear audience communication with the help of effective visual storytelling, singing grammar and a strong delivery to make the topic as accessible and engaging as possible.

EVENTS OF THE MONTH

HULT BANKING SOCIETY

@hult.bankingsociety

Credit Rating Workshop Hosted by Moody's

The Hult Banking Society organised a professional development workshop in collaboration with Moody's Corporation, offering students an in-depth introduction to credit analysis and real-world risk assessment practices. The event was dedicated to strengthening financial thinking, analytical skills, and practical understanding of credit markets and ratings methodology.

The session encouraged participants to explore how financial institutions assess risk, evaluate creditworthiness, and make strategic decisions.

Cozy Night

The Hult Student Association organized a community movie night, bringing students together for a relaxed and enjoyable social experience. The event created a welcoming space for students to connect, unwind, and strengthen campus community.

The evening featured a screening of Legally Blonde, offering a fun and uplifting atmosphere that encouraged connection, positivity, and student engagement.

MEN'S FOOTBALL CLUB

@hult.ugfc

HULT UG vs PG

The Hult Men's Football Club organized an exciting football match between the Undergraduate and Postgraduate men's teams, creating a high-energy and competitive sporting atmosphere on campus. The event brought together students from both programs, fostering teamwork, school spirit, and friendly rivalry.

The match encouraged active participation, community bonding, and student engagement, highlighting the importance of sports in promoting well-being, collaboration, and a vibrant campus culture.
