PIMCO

As a Client Management Intern at PIMCO, Juan supported the Latin America Institutional team by analyzing portfolios, preparing market insights, and assisting with client servicing across pension funds, family offices, and central banks. He collaborated with account managers on investment materials, strengthened relationships through research-driven recommendations, and gained experience in fixed income and global macro markets.

Business Challenges

Leadership Class

In his leadership class, students are partnering with The Rehumanization Project, a foundation dedicated to supporting people experiencing homelessness and those in need. Throughout the semester, the teams have organized fundraising efforts, donation drives, and awareness activities across campus to contribute to the organization's mission.

In December, they will present the results of their work, reflecting on their impact and the leadership skills developed along the way.

VALUATIONS

Corporate Finance Class

In the corporate finance class, students have spent the semester strengthening their understanding of financial analysis, valuation methods, and the factors that influence a company's performance. As the term enters its final weeks, they are now applying these concepts by evaluating real companies and measuring how effectively they operate. This phase allows students to translate into classroom knowledge into practical insight as they prepare for their final assessments.

Events of the Month

HULT INVESTMENT GROUP

Fireside Chat with Callum Henderson

This month, the Hult Undergraduate Investment Club hosted a fireside chat with Callum Henderson, Portfolio Manager at Fidelity Investments. He shared his experience breaking into finance as an international student, provided insight into defensive and fixed-income investing, and offered practical career advice for students looking to enter the industry.

A Networking event!

This month, the students joined a networking visit to Venture Café Cambridge, a global hub that connects innovators through weekly community events. Students met in the lobby and then explored the space, gaining the chance to meet founders, professionals, and other young leaders across Boston's innovation ecosystem.

VENTURE CAFE NETWORKING

WOMEN IN BUSINESS

Kick-Off Event !

This week, the Women in Business Club hosted its kickoff event at Hult International Business School. The gathering brought together the club's leadership team and students in an energizing and welcoming environment. The conversations highlighted how recent progress in women's financial and professional independence truly is, while also emphasizing the ambition and potential of the next generation of women in business.
