Flooring. Rooted in Nature.

Parquet that excites and inspires.

Why do we, at BOEN, love real wood? The answer is simple: because nature does it best. Wood is more than just a material, it is a feeling.

Real wood is unique. It bears the marks of nature, gaining even more character over time and creating an atmosphere that no artificial material can replicate. This belief defines BOEN – and this inspiration magazine.

Flooring. Rooted in Nature. Our motto highlights what we stand for. Wood takes a long time to grow, connecting generations and recounting stories that add a tangible warmth to any space. Our roots trace back to Norway, where it all began with two small sawmills at the BOEN waterfall, over 385 years ago. That is where our understanding of quality, rooted in respect for nature, originates.

We believe that a floor must do more than just look good. It should also feel good, withstand the stresses of everyday use, and bring long-lasting joy. This is why the parquet floors we develop stand out for their clever engineering, responsible selection of materials, and lasting premium protection: for indoor spaces that harmoniously combine design and nature.

In this magazine, we introduce you to the world of BOEN. You will discover what we stand for, the benefits that parquet offers, and what makes our flooring unique. Explore select product highlights: from spacious formats to striking creative patterns, as well as natural oak classics and distinctive rustic floors. Additionally, you will find a concise overview of the available colours, formats, surfaces, and gradings.

I hope you enjoy exploring them!

At BOEN, we celebrate the moments of quiet in a hectic world: the calm before the storm, a safe home, a warming drink after a long walk. Our wooden floors have preserved the unbridled power of nature for 380 years, combining Nordic clarity with adventure and comfort and turning nature into a self-evident part of your home.

About BOEN

Our roots go far back in history, and for all this time, a spirit of true discovery has always run in BOEN's veins. It all began in 1641, with two small sawmills at the BOEN waterfall, amidst the unspoiled nature of Norway. Since its origins at a waterfall in Kristiansand, our brand has developed into a global presence.

We have always grown through the centuries and consistently upheld our belief in respecting nature and responsibly using its resources. Back then and still today, wood remains at the heart of our identity.

Where it all began

Sustainably successful:

- All of BOEN's products are manufactured in Europe, enabling short transport routes and transparency in production processes.
- Over 70 % of the wood we process is FSC®- or PEFC®-certified.
- 97% of the wood processed originates from Europe, with the remaining 3%, from North America (e.g. Canadian maple).
- Since 2018, we have published an annual sustainability report to communicate our efforts in this area.
- From 2019 onwards, we have reduced our fossil fuel emissions by over 60 %.
- By 2021, all our production facilities in Europe were certified to ISO 14001.
- Our European factories are powered by renewable energy, including Croatia's largest industrial solar farm. In 2024, Bauwerk Group produced 69% more solar energy than the previous year.
- We have also committed locally to environmental initiatives, such as planting 2,700 oaks in Croatian municipalities.
- Various quality labels from independent institutes certify that BOEN's products are sustainable, healthy, and safe.

More details about sustainability at BOEN in our Sustainability Insights.

Parquet by BOEN makes your home more sustainable, valuable and cosy: a floor that creates an atmosphere and stays with you for years to come.

2. Lasting

A parquet floor will accompany you through life for years to come. It ages well, develops its character over time and can be renovated – unlike any other flooring types.

1. Sustainable

Wood grows as a natural raw material, storing CO₂. Parquet also requires significantly less energy to produce than other types of flooring.

3. Healthy

Wood breathes: it regulates humidity, enhances indoor climate and acoustics, and benefits our nervous system.

4. Pleasant

Wood feels warm and inviting; it brings comfort under your feet and fosters a natural sense of well-being.

5. Value-adding

Parquet is a durable investment. It brings a sense of permanence to your home and boosts its property value for years to come.

Advantages of parquet

Our parquet combines high-quality materials, craftsmanship, and innovative technologies for a floor that not only lasts a long time but is also exceptionally resilient in everyday use. This is why we prioritise ongoing development and quality at every stage: from raw materials to finished products.

-  Timeless Nordic design.
-  Lasting, easy-to-care-for surfaces.
-  Healthy material with a known origin of wood.
-  Made sustainably in Europe – for high standards, short transport routes and a good feeling.
-  Large selection of floors with 5G® Click technology, for quick and adhesive-free installation.
-  In-house research and development unit that continuously works on conceiving innovative and sustainable solutions.

“We work with natural materials as often as we can. They are durable, they have a soul, and as they age, they take on a special character. For us, that is what sustainability is all about”.

Åshild Slettebø, CEO of Arkitektkontoret Vest

nature.

For the flooring in the house, the architects and owners selected the exclusive Chaletino Oak Nature 1-strip planks. “Whenever we choose a floor, it must be beautiful, harmonise with the overall project, and be pleasant to walk on,” Slettebø said, commenting on the choice of oak parquet. The extraordinary dimensions of the planks –

2.75 metres long and 30 centimetres wide – create a visual sensation of space and tranquillity in the large rooms. The Chaletino format also highlights the structure and character of oak wood. This durable multi-layer parquet features a small bevel along its entire edge, emphasising the distinctive format of the 1-strip planks.

Wood is alive, and creative patterns allow it to express its personality fully. Whether it is classic herringbone, elegant chevron, or modern diamond and cube, each pattern narrates its own story. The grading, colour, and structure of each strip of wood ensure that your floor is as unique as you are. BOEN's creative pattern floors combine design, quality, and that special wow factor that makes the room lively, stylish, and uniquely personal.

Your floor and your style combined in a creative pattern turn wood into a statement.

At Bellevue, the herringbone pattern emphasises the mansion's classic charm, while the large dimensions of the planks introduce a stylishly modern touch.

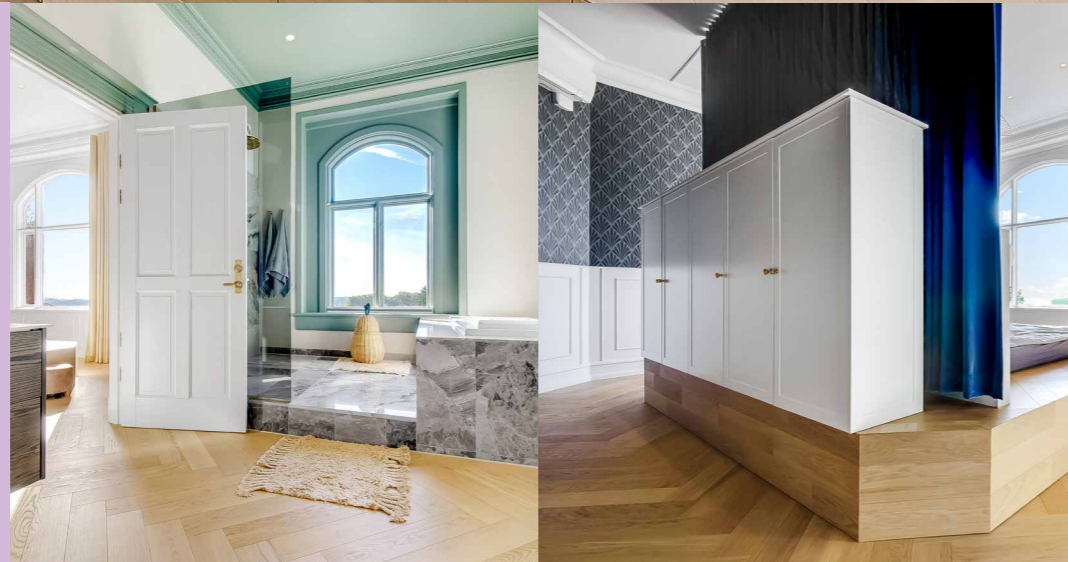

“The parquet floor is a powerful element that binds the design together”. It carries the history of the house forward and, at the same time, it serves as the perfect stage for our modern interiors.”

Line Blirup Bidstrup, owner of the property

Parquet as a powerful design element.

The summer residence of a tobacco manufacturer, a residential villa, a community centre, a care home, and a temporary residence for refugees: the walls of the castle-style Bellevue residence in the Danish port town of Svendborg have witnessed many stories. Many things have left their mark here, and yet, this remarkable building has retained its unmistakable charm for all these years. This, along with an endless view of the Baltic Sea, enchanted Jacob Blirup Bidstrup and his family. They transformed the historic building into a modern home with great sensitivity. The stucco, old wall panelling, and doors were preserved, restored, and expanded. The building was made more spacious by creating new openings in the walls. And the centre-piece? An end-to-end herringbone-pattern oak floor made by BOEN.

Oak is more than just a type of wood: it is a piece of nature that defines spaces and tells stories. Small knots, intriguing structures, gentle hues – it is this variety that makes oak so special. Having grown for decades, it brings calm, warmth, and character into your home. Its natural hardness makes the wood resistant to everyday wear, while its expressive grain remains timelessly beautiful. With a wide range of colours and finishes, oak always lends itself to new interpretations and integrates seamlessly with any interior style.

oak brings personality

Nature meets design: This home in Ålesund demonstrates how Oak Transparent by BOEN combines warmth and Nordic lightness with the capacity to endure an active family life.

Castle Oak Transparent planks beautifully showcase the natural features of oak wood, creating a home full of character and genuine charm.

Oak brings the variety of nature into your house.

Nature is at the heart of this single-storey home in Ålesund. The wide planks highlight its open-plan layout, creating seamless connections between the rooms. The floor's flexibility is particularly evident in the hallway: children use it as a play area, and it effortlessly handles daily wear while showcasing its elegant design. Large windows allow light to fall onto the gently gleaming surface, revealing the natural structure of the wood in a stunning way. Durable and easy to maintain, this floor is ideal for active family life: whether for playing, running around, or relaxing. With BOEN, home life becomes a shared experience: timeless, sustainable, and full of Nordic charm.

Personality never goes out of fashion, and this is equally true for variety. These two features are what make rustic wooden floors by BOEN so special. Wild grain, natural colour variations, and visible knots bring a breath of warmth, life, and character into each room. Our floors tell stories: every plank is unique, with visible knots, cracks, and natural structures. They turn the wood into a bold statement in the room.

Rustic here is not old-fashioned, but rather genuine, unique and full of character.

French cuisine meets Canadian lifestyle: Chez Lionel indulges its guests not only with its creative menus, but also with an ambience of warmth and style, not least thanks to the parquet.

Situated in Solar Uniquartier, a visionary future-oriented neighbourhood of Brossard near Montreal, Chez Lionel welcomes its guests with an inviting building and French charm.

Gastronomy in a stylish atmosphere.

The 180 m² of BOEN Oak Alamo Live Natural-oiled 1-strip planks bring warmth and nature into the restaurant, perfectly fitting its elegantly relaxed atmosphere. At the same time, the parquet reliably withstands the demanding daily challenges of a gastronomic venue. The lighting, materials, and furniture have been carefully coordinated to invite guests to enjoy a comfortable experience. The interior design concept by the Cléo Katcho interior architecture firm combines functionality with French charm. Guests appreciate the uncluttered and stylish decor as the restaurant highlights its culinary offerings. Chez Lionel is a place where excellent food, sophisticated interiors, and a welcoming ambiance come together.

A dark parquet floor makes a bold statement, providing a sturdy backdrop for the rest of the interior. Conversely, a light parquet floor brightens the space and creates an airy atmosphere.

BOEN's product range features a comprehensive selection of colours, offering excellent options for a wide variety of interior styles.

The light-coloured parquet offers a balanced foundation for this young family's house. The light and dark interior design elements combine to create a sense of airiness and natural warmth.

The lighter-coloured floors reflect light and create a sense of space, while intentional accents made of dark wood and other materials offer contrast. This gives the interior a balanced, lively, and, at the same time, calm appearance.

Light and contrast working together.

This home for a young family thrives on its perfect balance. The owner loves the blend of light and dark wood, as it creates depth, adds a decorative touch, and still complements everything else. Her design tip: "I like starting with a clean slate of light parquet with a balanced tone and pleasantly light wall colours. There is then flexibility for changing the furniture and accents." The decision was made to choose a wide plank with Live Pure™ lacquer: the parquet combines warm and cool colours, is resistant to stains, and its clear, natural structure is simply impressive. The result is a timeless and cosy floor that reflects light, accentuates contrasts, and harmoniously complements the interior design. At the same time, the floor endures the challenges of lively, everyday family life.

Your parquet should still look good after years of use, while retaining its unique character. Wood seems to be the perfect material for achieving this: warm, lively, and surprisingly durable. With the innovative Live Pure™ surface treatment, the wood's natural resilience is elevated to a new level. This surface creates a natural appearance for your floor and offers premium protection: barely visible but tangibly strong.

For a floor that can withstand (almost) anything. Parquet floors with the Live Pure™ lacquer combine sturdy protection with natural beauty: they are resistant to scratches, water, chemicals, and UV light, they maintain the natural matt look of the wood, and they are very easy to care for – all based on healthy, plasticiser-free components that give you a good feeling every step of the way.

Natural, light, and modern: Villa Knutsen demonstrates how a parquet floor with an authentic appearance and innovative surface can truly enhance interiors.

The nearly three-metre-long Chaletino Oak Nature plank with a Live Pure™ surface combines enduring quality and Nordic lightness: ideal for a timeless interior style.

Authentic wood structure with an innovative surface.

Villa Knutsen is a perfect example of Nordic design: clean lines, natural materials, and a harmonious colour scheme. Its focal point is a parquet floor by BOEN, featuring Chaletino planks and the innovative Live Pure™ surface. This lacquer allows the original appearance of the wood to be maintained without losing its natural character, while protecting it from everyday stresses. The result is a floor that looks almost untreated but is both durable and easy to care for. The extra-wide planks enhance the sense of spaciousness in the room, creating a warm and welcoming atmosphere. Paired with soft natural colours and modern furniture, the floor establishes a look that is youthful, fresh, and genuine – ideal for anyone who appreciates natural charm and refuses to compromise on quality.

Complete your flooring with the right accessories, because only the right details make your home feel perfectly cohesive. Stair Steps and skirtings by BOEN blend harmoniously in any room, perfectly matched to your parquet floor. Whether in the same wood type and colour as your floor or as a veneered variant in any of BOEN's colours, they create a consistent look that makes the room appear larger – and radiate comfort at the same time. It is these fine accents that truly breathe life into a room and add that final touch of polish to your home. Here, the floor does not simply stop: it flows on.

Small details, big impact: Stairs & skirtings give your floor a grand finale.

Skirtings

Skirtings in the same colour as your parquet serve as a beautiful frame for the floor, visually enlarging it. BOEN offers parquet and veneered skirtings in all the colours available, creating an impeccably harmonious sense of wellbeing.

Stair nosings

The purpose of stairs extends far beyond their practical function, as they can serve as a striking design feature and eye-catching element. Our stair nosings integrate the stairs seamlessly into the room, creating a sense of calm and elegantly accentuating the wood.

The benefits for you:

- Real-parquet stair nosings
- Available for all floors and colours
- High edge durability
- Suits every type of stairs
- Special edging for open stairs

Custom products

With skill and craftsmanship, our parquet planks can also be transformed into unique wooden features, such as a broad recessed windowsill or an exclusive bed frame.

Origami Tech

Our special folding technique Origami Tech creates a gentle rounded bevel at the edge of the step. Since the parquet piece is folded twice and never broken, this method preserves the wood surface treatment on the edge. The result: edges that are as well-protected as your BOEN floor.

Parquet offers almost endless options. Take a look at our product overview. Whether you are seeking distinctive patterns, large formats, natural elegance, rustic charm or striking contrasts, we'll assist you in finding your ideal floor.

Path to your perfect floor

1. Colour

Colours play a significant role both in our daily lives and in nature. You can also sense that colours can have a positive effect. So should your home! Every type of wood has its own distinctive, unmistakable shade. BOEN's product range offers a wide, comprehensive selection of colours: from cool and light to dark and warm.

2. Format and laying pattern

You can emphasise the impact of a spacious room with large-format planks. Alternatively, you might prefer a classic shipdeck parquet available in many attractive colours and wood types. Our 2-layer products are also an excellent choice for traditional laying patterns.

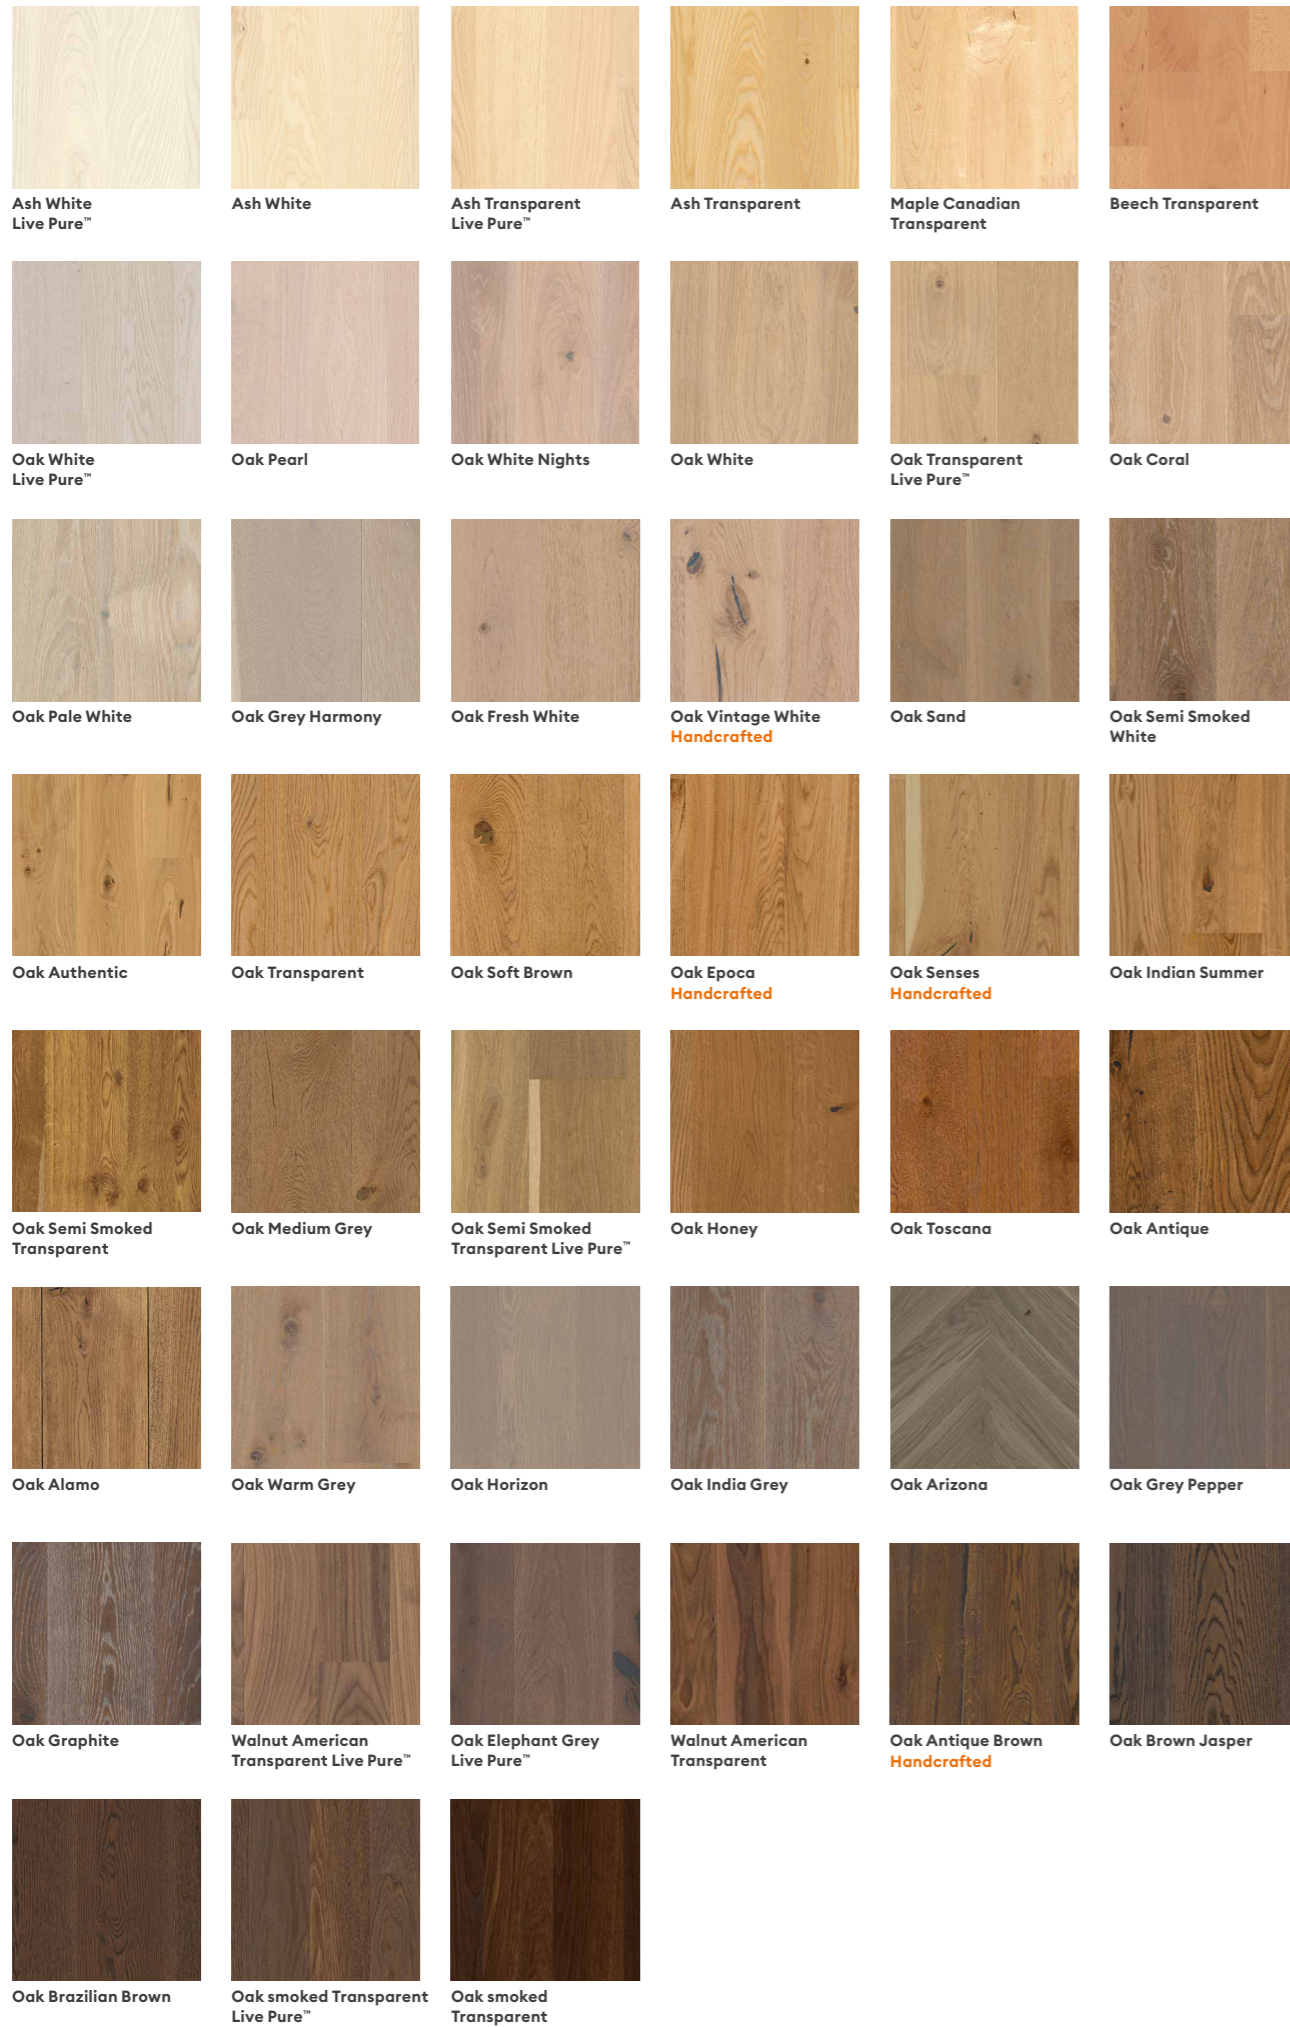

3. Grading

From calm to rustic, our parquet gradings highlight different aspects. Calmer floors appear noble and consistent, providing a subtle foundation for any interior. In contrast, rustic gradings tell lively, characterful stories, making the floor a stage for the room.

4. Surface

Oiled floors are especially good at highlighting the wood's natural character, while lacquered surfaces are somewhat easier to care for. All our finishes emphasise the beauty of the wood and provide long-lasting protection against dust, dirt, and liquids, ensuring a floor that maintains its well-kept appearance for years to come.

Wood is a natural material. Some types of wood have a more subdued appearance, while others display a more lively look. This means that no two floors are identical. Nature leaves its mark on the wood: the delicate details of its grain and the presence of smaller and larger knots tell the story of the tree.

Gratings

BOEN places great value on people's health and that of the environment. Our lacquers and oils are completely safe, tested for emissions, free from plasticiser-free and allergy-friendly, so that you can breathe it all in with a clear conscience.

Live Natural oil

A ready-to-use oil containing high-quality ingredients, including sunflower, thistle, and soya oils, as well as natural waxes (carnauba, candelilla). The natural oil is applied twice, and the developed production system ensures that the oil penetrates deeply into the wood, saturating and protecting its pores.

Live Pure™ lacquer

An innovative lacquer that takes the natural durability of the wood to a new level. The parquet has a natural ultra-matt finish and, at the same time, is well-protected from dust, liquids and UV light. The grain is not stained and remains calm and clear, almost like in unlacquered wood.

Live Mattlacquer

Contains six coats of lacquer with a very low gloss level, giving surfaces a calm, matte appearance. It offers a natural look while providing the benefits of an anti-scratch lacquer.

Surface structure

Sanded floors appear clear and elegant and are simple to keep clean. Brushed surfaces provide a lively texture that you can immediately feel. Finally, with carefully refined knots and cracks, our Handcrafted floors invite you to enjoy a distinctive tactile experience.

Bevels

Floors without bevels draw attention to the entire surface. Having two bevels along the longer sides of each plank accentuates the whole row they belong to. Four bevels create a three-dimensional effect that visually enhances each individual plank.

Surfaces

BOEN provides suitable cleaning and care products – all in one place – to make your floor easy to clean and keep it as stunning as on the first day.

Flooring. Rooted in Nature.

Our roots run deep: It all began in 1641, with two small sawmills at the BOEN waterfall in the unspoiled nature of Norway. To this day, our wooden floors carry the calm of Nordic forests and the power of untamed nature. They combine Scandinavian clarity with a sense of comforting warmth. This way, BOEN brings nature's essence into contemporary living environments, making nature a self-evident part of your home. boen.com
