EXPERIENCE

With over 30 years of experience as a litigation attorney, I have gained extensive expertise particularly in commercial, corporate, and white-collar criminal law. I have represented clients in numerous international and often complex matters before courts, in administrative proceedings including criminal investigations, as well as in international legal assistance requests. In the context of internal investigations and white-collar crime cases, I have frequently handled issues related to anti-money laundering and compliance. As a board member – including of a Swiss bank – I also bring practical insights into corporate governance. Additionally, I advise companies on employment law matters.
