Porsche: The choice for the individual

Since Porsches were first introduced, the company philosophy has been to produce cars for the individual. The extensive and attractive range of colours and materials reflects this principle.

The production facility at Zuffenhausen provides exceptional flexibility when it comes to exterior and interior finishes, to the extent that it is rare for two cars with exactly the same specification to be produced in the same month. When it comes to selecting the paintwork for your Porsche, the diverse collection of colours available will captivate even the most vivacious imagination and with the introduction of new special colour options the choice is even more appealing. This choice continues with the range of Cabriolet colours that you can choose, from the traditional elegance of black or dark blue to the more extravagant cobalt blue or magenta with classic grey being added for the first time this year.

In the unlikely event of not being able to find the ideal colour combination, Porsche's colour-to-sample facility is available, by which Porsche will match the exterior and interior colours to your own personal choice. Contact your Official Porsche Centre for further details about this exclusive option.

In addition to the extensive optional equipment range, the Porsche Exclusive Programme exists to further personalise your Porsche. This unique programme uses only the finest materials and means the Porsche craftsmen can develop a Porsche specifically to an individual's requirements; truly demonstrating Porsche's concept of the "tailor-made" sports car.

The examples shown here are, of course, just a selection from the range available. Your Official Porsche Centre will be delighted to supply more information on how to make your Porsche into the car that really suits you.

Porsche Interiors – a small selection from the immense range

Once the interior specification has been decided, for example the type of seats preferred and the finish of the interior, the colours can be selected to co-ordinate or contrast to create the ambience that is desired. This can be taken further by the Porsche Exclusive programme enabling colour-to-sample leather or cloth finishes with wood inlays to door, console, facings and steering wheel to be used to create a unique interior for your Porsche.

An example of the craftsmanship available from the Porsche Exclusive Programme. The highest quality leather and wood combine to further personalise this Porsche interior.

The Porsche Design studio has produced a range of interior colours to perfectly complement the exterior body colours.

All the colours have an individual code. To match the interior colours to the exterior colours simply match the code for the interior colour, on the colour card, to the corresponding exterior colour code. By contrasting these colour samples with the available interiors you will be able to see what is the best match to suit your individual taste and style.

Your Official Porsche Centre will be happy to assist you with any requests you may have regarding the important matter of selecting the colour combination of your car.

The colour and trim samples shown on these sheets may differ slightly from the original. Porsche reserve the right to modify or alter any of these trims or exterior finishes without prior notification.
