YOUR JOB AT KEB A – MORE THAN JUST A JOB!

KEBA[®]

Automation by innovation.

Why a good day starts with KEBA?

Automation plays a key role in the designing of modern living environments, even if this remains largely unnoticed.

The injection molding of plastics, for example, demands innovative hardware and software, with the assistance of which production can run reliably, precisely, quickly, and to the highest standards of quality.

From Upper Austria out into the big wide world

Leading machine and robot manufacturers, financial institutions such as postal and lottery companies, automotive suppliers and renowned industrial enterprises rely on KEBA's expertise. In some business sectors, the innovative solutions from KEBA have helped to achieve global market leadership.

Automated parcel terminals

Self-service systems
for financial institutes

Lottery terminals

Charging stations for electric vehicles

Heating controls

Automation solutions for machines

Control systems for industrial robots

Handheld operating devices

KEBA: 50 years of constant innovation

Our innovations originate from the courage and passion of the KEBAns, and from a working environment which is always open to new ideas. With a research and development quota of 20%, KEBA is sending a strong signal for the future.

We look forward to every spirited mind!

We are always on the lookout for new employees for the different areas at our company, such as software development, hardware development, product management and sales, to name just a few. Candidates are predominantly college, university and polytechnic graduates from a wide variety of technical directions – with and without professional experience.

Even if none of our currently available job opportunities are suitable for you, submit your application anyway at www.keba.com! At KEBA, innovation also means the creation of exciting new employment opportunities.

KEBA offers more than just a job – we offer a building block for your future!

Is it true that you will never be alone as a KEBAAn?

Every beginning is hard, goes the saying. This also applies to a new role at a new workplace.

For our new employees to become well acquainted with their new team and our company right from the start, they are provided with mentors. This makes starting out easier and helps for building new contacts.

Our mentor program: just one of many additional benefits that KEBA has to offer.
