Hult Access and Participation Statement (2026)

Hult International Business School is a global institution with full-time campuses in Boston, Dubai and London. In addition, Hult delivers Executive Education and Doctoral programs at the Ashridge campus. The school also offers summer rotation learning experiences in New York City, San Francisco, and Singapore. Hult delivers Undergraduate, Postgraduate, Doctoral, and Executive Education programs designed for a student population that is highly entrepreneurial and collaborative in their approach to problem-solving.

Our Purpose and Educational Approach

Hult exists to create a better future for all by challenging its community to make an impact that matters. The institution is defined by a clear sense of purpose, and a distinctive educational approach grounded in real-world relevance, global perspective, and human-centered skill development.

Learning is experiential, practice-based, and designed to build human skills that technology cannot replace, including communication, collaboration, creativity, and leadership. Academic instruction is complemented by personal and professional coaching, ensuring students are supported throughout their development. Hult's programs are built around applied learning, real challenges, and real impact. Faculty bring extensive industry experience into the classroom, and students work on live business problems from day one, preparing them to navigate and lead in complex international environments.

Access, Inclusion, and Student Profile

Students choose Hult because of its global mindset and learning environment. Our community is shaped by shared characteristics often described as the "Hult DNA":

- An interest in the world
- An open mind
- A bold spirit
- A creative intellect
- A resourceful attitude

Hult's student body represents more than 140 nationalities across its degree programs and global locations, with no single nationality forming a dominant proportion of the overall population. This global mindset and openness to cross-cultural understanding is central to the Hult experience and enriches classroom learning, collaboration, and career preparation.

Hult is committed to providing an inclusive and supportive environment that enables students from a wide range of backgrounds to succeed academically, personally, and professionally. Our student support model is designed to meet the needs of a diverse population and includes academic advising, wellbeing and accessibility services, career development, and community engagement opportunities.

Academic Progression and Outcomes

Hult students are challenged through intensive, practice-based programs that emphasize real-world application, global mobility, and professional readiness. Students benefit from opportunities to rotate between campuses, engage with multinational peers, and build global professional networks. Consistent with Hult's mission and program design, graduates demonstrate strong employment outcomes across degree programs. A significant proportion of graduates pursue and secure employment outside their country of origin, reflecting the international scope of Hult's education and career preparation.

Financial Support and Scholarships

Hult International Business School operates as a private, non-profit institution and offers a range of merit-based scholarships and other forms of financial support to eligible students. Financial support at Hult is intended to advance access to a high-quality forward-thinking business education and to support a diverse student body.

Details regarding eligibility, criteria, terms, and conditions for scholarships and other financial awards are set out in Hult's Scholarship Policy, which is published online and reviewed regularly. This policy forms the authoritative framework for all institutional scholarships and financial awards and is available at:

Scholarship and financial support decisions are made in alignment with Hult's admissions standards, mission and values, and applicable equal opportunity and non-discrimination laws. Awards may consider a range of factors.

Ongoing Commitment

Hult is committed to continually reviewing its access, participation, and financial support practices to ensure they remain transparent, equitable, and aligned with the evolving needs of a global student population. This statement is reviewed periodically to reflect current institutional practice and regulatory expectations.
