

Movement & Fitness

Take the stairs.

Taking a midday break to be active— even just choosing to use the stairs over the elevator can increase blood flow to your brain— making you more focused by the time you make it to your desk.

The WELL Building Standard (WELL)™
V03

