4. Risk Management

4.1 General Qualitative Disclosure of Risks

The Board of Directors and management are responsible for defining the Firm's risk appetite, developing a risk management strategy, establishing an overall risk culture, and approving the exposure limit structure for different types of risk. The Board is ultimately responsible for ensuring that an adequate and effective system of internal controls is established and implemented, and that an effective risk management framework is in place.

The Risk Management function shall be responsible for establishing an effective framework for identifying, measuring, monitoring, and controlling risks on an ongoing basis across the Firm and escalates material risk limit breaches to the Board/Board committee.

A description for individual risk categories alongside their objectives is included below under the respective sections.

Risk identification in any business line, product or transaction is, in the first instance, the responsibility of the originating business unit, as the owner and manager of the risk. This applies not only when a business, a product or a transaction commences, but also during the life of the business and as its risk profile changes.

Risk Management shall assist risk owners reassess the identified risks as and when required through the risk assessment process, as well as upon introducing any new policy, procedure, business segment and critical outsourcing arrangement.

Risk is measured based on a combined scale of "likelihood of occurrence" and "impact" on the Firm. The risks are measured assuming the existence of no controls (i.e., measuring the "inherent risk"). Once controls are identified, they are evaluated to understand its effect on the Risk Rating. Controls could be preventive, detective or corrective in nature. The control is identified by the risk owners through the risk and control self-assessment exercise, as well as procedural manuals, policies, and guidelines. Based on the evaluation of implemented controls, the risks are reassessed to determine the overall residual risk, and whether implementation of further controls is required.

Measures implemented by the Firm for risk monitoring and governance through the Audit Committee to ensure robust oversight and management of risks and is responsible to oversee the entire Risk Management Framework of the Firm.

4.2 Credit Risk Disclosure

Credit risk is defined as to the potential that the Firm's counterparty will fail to meet its obligations in accordance with agreed terms, leading to a financial loss. The goal of credit risk management is to maximize a Firm's risk-adjusted rate of return by maintaining credit risk exposure within acceptable parameters.

The Firm has developed and implemented Capital Deployment Guidelines applicable for the placement of Cash and Cash Equivalents. The guidelines restrict the placement of funds based on the credit rating of the financial institutions as well as based on the percentage of shareholder funds. The policy also stipulates all regulatory and internal counterparty limits.

The Firm's credit risk is limited to its bank balance, term deposit, prepayment and other current assets and amount due from shareholder, i.e., Owner.

Kindly refer to Appendix III for further details.

4.3 Credit Risk Mitigation Exposure

The Firm does not hold collateral as a security for amounts due from the Owner. Impairment assessment is undertaken each financial year through examining the financial position of the Owner, which is a closed joint stock Firm in the Kingdom of Bahrain, and the market in which the Owner operates. The Firm evaluates the risk with respect to the amounts due from Owner as low.

The Firm has implemented comprehensive credit and concentration limits to ensure that its counterparty exposure is in alignment with internal and regulatory limits. These mitigation plans are mainly translated in counterparty and concentration limits. Any changes to these limits must be verified by Risk Management and approved by the Board.

Kindly refer to Appendix V for further details.

4.4 Counterparty Credit Risk (CCR) and Off-Balance Sheet Disclosure

The Firm has neither transactions nor exposures relating to the following:

- Over-The-Counter ("OTC") derivatives, repos and reverse repos, and securities borrowing/lending; and
- Off Balance Sheet Commitments.

4.5 Market Risk Disclosure

Market risk is the risk of changes in prices to interest rate, market valuations, foreign exchange and credit spreads will affect the Firm's income or the value of its holdings of financial instruments.

The Firm it is not exposed to market risk as it does not hold or manage trading positions.

The Firm's transactions are principally in Saudi Riyals and USD; other transactions in foreign currencies, if any, are not material. In terms of foreign exchange risk, the Firm's capital and reserve funds are invested in local base currency.

4.6 Operational Risk Disclosure

Operational risk can broadly be defined as the risk of direct or indirect losses or damaged reputation due to failure attributable to technology, employees, processes, procedures or physical arrangements, including external events and legal or regulatory risks. The Firm ensures that all operational risks are identified, mitigated and managed appropriately and thereby the loss arising from the operational risks are minimized. Key operational risks are as follows

1. Key Man Risk

The Firm faces Key Man Risk due to several factors such as its size, early stage of development and concentration of responsibilities. Hence, any loss of such key personnel could pose significant business disruption to the Firm, affecting its continuity and profitability.

2. Outsourcing Risk

Outsourcing is an arrangement whereby a third party performs on behalf of the Firm an activity or part of an activity that was either previously undertaken or would have been ordinarily performed internally by the Firm. Risk assessments are performed prior to engaging any outsourced vendor and on an annual basis as per the internal guidelines.

3. Fraud Risk

External Fraud: Risk resulting from dishonesty of individuals outside the Firm that causes damage, such as forgery of financial documents, fraud, etc.

Internal Fraud: Risk resulting from dishonesty of personnel within the Firm, such as forgery of documents, embezzlement, bribery, etc.

4. Information Security Risk

Information risk management identifies vulnerabilities and threats to the information resources used to achieve business objectives, and facilitates in deciding what countermeasures, if any, to take based on the value of the information resource.

Security breaches, information loss or unauthorized disclosure, and other risks associated with information management are managed as 'incidents' with appropriate actions undertaken in terms of escalation, reporting, recovery and subsequent review of existing controls, policy and procedures. The Firm also takes appropriate steps to ensure the security of any information handled or held on behalf of clients is properly managed and maintained by the outsourcing provider.

5. Anti-Money Laundering Risk

The Firm must ensure that it is not being used, intentionally or unintentionally for criminal purposes. The Firm has implemented the Group Anti-Money Laundering /Combating the Financing of Terrorism Policies and Procedures Manual, which details the procedures and rules to be followed to address the relevant risks.

6. Strategic Risk

This is the potential for the business environment to threaten the ability to execute a strategy. Strategic risk can be categorized into four main categories:

a. Regulatory Risk

The Firm is subject to compliance with regulatory requirements and has implemented a Group Compliance Manuals supported by robust monitoring programs by the Compliance Function.

b. Technology Risk

The Firm significantly relies on technology to operate and meet client expectations and hence any event that could hamper the performance of this technology or compromise the security of confidential client and Firm data would pose serious risks to the Firm. IT related activities are outsourced to the Owner and to appropriately manage the technology risk, the Owner has in place detailed procedural manuals including information and IT security procedures.

c. Political Risk

Political events and conditions that may disrupt business or impact the economics of our industry.

d. Economic Risk

The potential for economic conditions that may affect the achievement of the business strategy.

The Firm shall manage its operational risk by ensuring effective segregation of tasks and duties, reinforcing organizational ethics and by conducting periodic risk and controls assessments.

The Firm calculates operational risk capital requirement in accordance with Chapter 10 – Basic Indicator Approach (“BI Approach”) and Chapter 12 – Expenditure Based Approach (“EB Approach”) of the CMA Prudential Rules. The operational capital requirement is the higher of BI Approach or EB Approach.

The BI Approach requires the Firm to hold capital equal to 15% of the average operating income for the last three years. The EB Approach requires the Firm to hold capital equal to 25% of the annual overhead expenses from the most recent audited financial statements.

As of December 31, 2022, the operational risk capital requirement of the Firm is based on the EB Approach being the higher of BI Approach.
