

Equalize Health's Commitment to Gender Equality

Equalize Health sees gender equality as a human right. We believe that people of all genders deserve to be treated with equal dignity and respect. We also recognize that gender inequality and restrictive gender norms undermine other fundamental rights, including the right to health, which is the foundation of our mission. We promote gender equality not just because it is the right and just thing to do, but also because it advances our goal of health equity.

In its ongoing commitment to gender equality, Equalize Health pledges to:

- Educate all staff and board members about the impact of gender inequality and restrictive gender norms, as well as best practices on how to design and deliver products and programs that are gender-responsive.
- Maintain corporate policies that support gender equality.
- Ensure we apply a gender lens to our product/program development.
- Conduct periodic self-assessments for transparency, accountability, and continuous improvement.
